STATEMENT

The plaintiff, a state prisoner, has brought this pro se civil rights action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. The plaintiff challenges the conditions of his confinement at the Pinckneyville Correctional Center, alleging inadequate food and sanitation. Without expressing an opinion as to the merits of the complaint, the court finds that venue does not lie in this judicial district.

Under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b), a civil rights action under Section 1983 may be brought only in: (1) a judicial district where any defendant resides, if all defendants reside in the same state, (2) a judicial district in which a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated, or (3) a judicial district in which any defendant may be found, if there is no district in which the action may otherwise be brought.

The court discerns no basis for venue in this district. This case involves the conditions of the plaintiff's confinement at the Pinckneyville Correctional Center, where the plaintiff is currently confined. Pinckneyville is in Perry County, which is situated in the Southern Illinois federal judicial district. See 28 U.S.C. § 93(c). Presumably, the defendants can be found in that district. Venue does, therefore, exist in the Southern District of Illinois and, given the particulars of this case, that district is clearly the most convenient forum for this action.

For the foregoing reasons, this action is transferred to the United States District Court for the Southern District of Illinois at East St. Louis pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1406(a) for imposition of an initial filing fee and whatever other action the transferee court deems appropriate. The clerk shall not issue summonses unless the transferee court so directs.
